STATE UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA, MISSOULA, MONTANA

About the Oval

ABER day has come and gone once more and the campus today presents a clean and tidy appearance except for scaffolds and stocks and other such impedimenta in the center of the oval which remain, a tribute to the incurable naivete of a few of Montana's chronologically maturest student minds.

FORESIGHT, it seems, is not one of the virtues of college students, nor for that matter of college professors. We who like to consider ourselves capable of learning by reason, and profiting by the mistakes of others, are evidently still in the object-lesson stage.

Risk-taking, when it comes as a matter of duty or as a matter of necessity, is commendable. But the endangering of person and property for the amusement of a mob, although it has always been a favorite sport of mankind, having been particularly popular in the days of ancient Rome, is unjustifiable. That no one was hurt does not in the least lessen the culpability of those who chose to mix medieval methods with a quaint sense of humor in conducting High Court on Aber day. The possibilities for physical injury remain unchallenged and students and faculty for the most part continue to consider funny that which is merely infantile.

WHAT could be more amusing (if we must be amused) than the spectacle of Montana's men of muscle inculcating the spirit of Daddy Aber by means of a well-swinging paddle?

THE old oaken paddle, once standard equipment for the disciplining a freshman (and others) represents a passing era in American campus life, according to a UP report issued from a recent conference of deans of men representing 75 colleges and universities.

Apparently Montana is not really bad, only old-fashioned.

M. Leonard To Convention

Two Missoula Girls Will Attend Biloxi Meet.

Mildred Leonard, as delegate from the Missoula chapter, and Frances Lines will attend the Kappa Delta convention which will be held in Biloxi, Mississippi, from June 24 to 29. About 400 persons usually attend the national convention of the sorority which is held biennially. Evelyn Clinton, who was delegate to the convention in 1927 held in Asilomar, Cal., was accompanied by Dorothy Douglas.

A special train will be run from Chicago to Biloxi with stops planned at Indianapolis, the central office of Kappa Delta; Nashville, Tenn., and Louisville, Ky. The chamber of commerce at New Orleans will entertain the delegates for a day, and a cruise on the Gulf of Mexico has been planned.

Miss Leonard and Miss Lines may also visit Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Washington, D. C., after the close of the convention.

Sedman's Daughters Will Visit Missoula

Mary Elizabeth and Virginia Sedman, former students of the University of Montana, are planning to spend the summer in Missoula with their mother, Dean Harriet R. Sedman.

Mary Elizabeth finishes a year of post-graduate work at Radcliffe in June and will probably teach in New York next year. Virginia graduates from Wesleyan receiving her B.A. She plans to enter Columbia university next fall to do post-graduate work in sociology.

HORSESHOE TOURNAMENT SOON

According to Harry Adams, director of intra-mural athletics, all entries for the annual horseshoe contest must be in by Thursday, May 1.

"Shorty" Huber won the University championship last year from more than twenty contestants.

Masquers To Present Robinson's "The White Headed Boy" May 3, 4

Veteran Cast Chosen; Rowe Morrell in Title Role. To Be Given Two Nights Only, Owing to Lateness of Season.

A cast of veteran actors will present "The White-Headed Boy," an Irish comedy by Lennox Robinson in the Little Theater May 3 and 4, according to William Angus, director of dramatics. Almost all those taking part in the play have been active in former productions of the Masquers.

The comedy will be given only two nights due to the lateness of the season. Those having season tickets for Thursday night are advised to have them changed for Friday or Saturday night.

Irish Play. "The White-Headed Boy" is an Irish term meaning the favorite child in a family. Rowe Morrell takes the title role, that of Dennis, the pampered son in a family of six. Morrell was one of a group of students who toured Texas last year with the College players. He has appeared on the campus in "The Goose Hangs High" and the one-act play, "Cabbages".

Irene Murphy takes a major part. That of Aunt Ellen, a middle-aged woman whose romance is wound into the plot of the play. She has appeared on the campus in "The Goose Hangs High", "Riders to the Sea", and "Wife to a Famous Man".

William A. Brown, who has been in the infirmary for the past week with an attack of appendicitis, is cast as John Duffy. If Brown is not able to appear in the production William Angus will take the part. Brown was seen on the campus in the role of Fawcett in "Twelve Thousand". Mrs. Geoghegan, the mother of the family, will be played by Marion Hobbs, who appeared in "Riders to the Sea" and "Shall We Join the Ladies". Curtis Barnes, who takes the part of George, has appeared in both major productions this year. "Wife to a Famous Man" and "Twelve Thousand".

Most of the minor roles in "The White-Headed Boy" are also being played by veterans. Gretchen Gayard, who plays Kate, an old maid, played the lead in "Twelve Thousand" and appeared in "Shall We Join the Ladies". Regine Bertling, taking the part of Jane, was in the cast of "The Anniversary".

Joe Mayo, who is Peter, one of the brothers, in the play, has taken part in several one-act productions. Peg Sharp, who plays Della, directed "The Anniversary" and was in the cast of "Wife to a Famous Man". Ed Astle, playing Donoghue Brown, made his only campus appearance in the Journalism school play, "The Curse of Rum".

Velma Dye, playing the part of the 36-year-old Baby, is appearing on the campus for the first time, as is Melba Schwab, who is cast as Hannah, the gossiping servant.

ANNUAL LANTERN PARADE MAY BE DISCONTINUED; IS OLD TRADITION

A. W. S. Board Decides to Have Vote Taken to Find If Interest Is Unanimous.

Discussion of the annual Lantern parade, which is put on by the Associated Women Students on Class night of Commencement week, took place at the regular A. W. S. board meeting Monday afternoon.

Plans were also made for a tea for the women who attend the Inter-scholastic track meet, and a dinner for all senior women who have lived in residence halls on the campus. Exact dates for these events have not been set yet.

In regard to the Lantern parade, the question came up as to whether a discontinuation of this tradition would be warranted. It is an old and beautiful tradition, having taken place on Class night of Commencement week for many years. It was first planned as a means of having a public and formal installation of the newly-elected A. W. S. officers.

Largest Women's Group.

A. W. S. is the largest women's organization on the campus, and the Lantern parade was planned as the climax of its affairs for the school year. However, Mrs. Harriet Sedman, dean of women,

Student Union Committee Has Meeting

Ballot Will Contain Two Points; Activities and Building.

The Student Union building committee, composed of Dr. C. H. Clapp, Dr. M. J. Elrod, Kirk Badgley, student auditor; Maurice McCollum, manager of the Students' store; Cloyse Overturf, A. S. U. M. president; and Russell Smith, business manager of A. S. U. M., met yesterday.

S. U. M., president and business manager of the University, and the president and business manager of the Store board. This committee will control the finances gained from the proposed increase in fees to be used for the erection of the Student Union building.

The following is the form ballot which the committee agreed to use when the students vote on the Student Union building.

The number of girls sent here by different high schools to compete in entries at the Little Theater, extemporaneous speaking, and declamatory is increasing every year.

At the primaries 950 votes were cast, one of the largest counts ever turned in by Montana students.

Mail 20,000 "U" Booklets To Schools

Pamphlets Sent Principals Over Middle West And West.

Approximately 20,000 of the 25,000 preliminary pamphlets of the University summer session have been mailed to high school principals and teachers, and to principals of grade schools in the West and Middle West, according to an announcement from the president's office. Lydia Maury, senior in the English department, who has charge of the work is assisted by a part-time staff of from six to eight students.

The pamphlet describes the courses offered under the 17 departments and schools of the summer session; lists courses for mature persons, admission and registration requirements, fees, credits, and gives room and board rates at the residence halls of Corbin and North.

Brief descriptions of the eight week-end excursions planned, of historic and industrial Montana are given in the booklet. Facts regarding Montana's great water power resources, her forests, agriculture, livestock and mining are listed as well as the larger cities and main highways. The two national parks of Glacier and Yellowstone are described very briefly while the immediate surroundings of the State University and Missoula are depicted in greater detail.

TRACK MEET S. O. S. THURSDAY EVENING

The Student Interscholastic Committee has requested that all organizations having social functions on Thursday night discontinue entertainment from 7:30 o'clock until 8:00, the time set for the track meet S. O. S. According to Nelson Fritz, Yell King, the success of the S. O. S. which is put on for the benefit of the High School students, depends on the number present.

VARSITY AND FRESHMAN TRACK SQUADS ARE READY FOR MEET

Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores Have Equal Chance to Win Inter-Class Contest Today.

Members of the Varsity and freshman track squads will compete in the inter-class track meet this afternoon at 3:30 under the various class colors, this being the first time this year that the men have had an opportunity to practice under actual meet conditions.

Equal Chance.

Seniors, juniors and sophomores have about equal chances of winning the meet, if the dope on paper is true. Most of the teams lack men in all of the events and the team which will be able to place men in the majority of the events is likely to win. The seniors appear strong in the dashes and the middle-distance, and with many points to be picked up in the field events. The juniors will shine in the sprints, hurdles, distance and field. The sophomores will not have very many winners but should take a good many second and third places. The freshmen, it appears, will not be likely to take very many places. It is almost absurd to believe that they will place in any of the track events, though they have several good opportunities in the field.

A list of the events and the men who are required to run is as follows:

Friday, 3:30.

100 yd. dash—Samples, T. Davis, Morrow, Moore, Parmenter, Haines, A. Burke, Stevingson and Garlington.

Pole vault—A. Burke and B. Burke.

Half mile—Martin, Curtiss, Jordan, A. Grover, C. Grover, Carey and Wertz.

220 yd. dash—Same as 100 yd. dash.

FITZGERALD, JOHNSON, SHERICH SMITH TO REPRESENT MONTANA

Extemporaneous Debate Will Be Held at Bozeman, May 17, Laux, Bowden, Lindsey, Judge Tryouts.

Russell Smith, Harold Fitzgerald, Charles M. Johnson and Joseph Sherich will represent Montana in the Montana-Montana State extemporaneous debate to be held at Bozeman, May 17.

These four were chosen in the extemporaneous debate tryouts held last evening in the University Main hall auditorium. Judges were Mary Laux, assistant professor of physical education; Ray Bowden, sophomore in the School of Journalism, and Hugh Lindsey, debate coach.

The general question for the tryouts was "The American Foreign Policy," and the specific question given to contestants by Mr. Lindsey was "Resolved, That the United States should not intervene in the internal affairs of other countries to protect American investments." Those trying out were allowed to choose either side of the question for their arguments. They were allowed one hour for preparation of their speeches.

The prize for this contest is a gold medal. This extemporaneous debate is to be an annual affair between the two schools from now on. Mr. Lindsey said, "We anticipate this being one of the best debates of the year."

College "Bull" Sessions

NOW and then on the campus is heard the statement that American universities are more like machines or factories than real schools. The oldest (and therefore the best) English universities are pointed to as the ideal in university training. It is given out that keeping class rolls and having weekly or daily examinations makes a line of distinction between the American system of careful faculty supervision and the English method of instruction without a great deal of class supervision.

Another point which some stress as being unique about universities such as Oxford, for example, is that the men meet and have group discussions. These discussion groups appear from the description of some Oxford lovers to be very intellectually instructive and uplifting. In fact they would be made to appear much as the literature professor would have the survey class think Charles Lamb and his group of friends looked as they gathered about the coffee shop for a bit of table talk.

It is barely possible, however, that American university men are fast picking up the session idea, and although they may not meet in small coffee shops, the practice of having a group of students together to discuss things in general, and often in particular, is becoming more popular all the time.

Of course the idealist will object seriously to the comparison of an American college "bull session" to the table talk of Oxford men or even to infer that there is a resemblance between the "bull" session and the sessions of men of letters. Yet it is possible that many useless remarks passed the lips of the noted English poets before a literary gem tripped over the table. It is altogether possible that at some time something of lasting quality may spring from one of the "bull" sessions of one of the Western universities.

If such is possible this simple and often times harmful institution which takes the time of university men and women can not be entirely condemned.—Arizona Wildcat.

A Slight Slip

THE names of candidates who were not opposed did not appear on the ballot Aber Day. Considering that it was the primary vote it was not a serious error; and we do not suppose it will be repeated in the finals Wednesday.

In elections students should have the opportunity to write in names of any they might want for an office.

They cannot do that when there is no ballot.

Communication

To the Members of the Central Board, Associated Students, University of Montana:

I desire to present a plan for raising funds and constructing a building for the use of the student body of the Montana State University, generally referred to as a Student Union building.

It is but a question of time until the student fee will be raised, part of which may be and doubtless will be, diverted to the building program. It will certainly be a year, most likely two years, possibly three years, before the increased fee will produce revenue for a building. Within these years it is possible to have the funds for a building, perhaps to have the building well under way of construction, if the student body of nearly 1500 will make special effort for the purpose.

The cost of education per student is determined by taking the enrollment on the twentieth of October and dividing the total expenditure by this number. If each institution makes the computation in the same way, the comparison of costs is quite fair. This is the general custom now. The cost per student at the Montana State University for the year 1927-28 on this basis is $343.00. The total amount paid by the student in fees to the University, not counting the fee for student activities, is $56.00. From some source, then, each student receives an average of $287.00 for the year to maintain the expense of the faculty and the educational plant. Compare this with private institutions, of which there are many, and which are daily quoted, which charge from $150.00 to $400.00 per year tuition.

The question arises, how many students of the State University of Montana, past and present, are sufficiently appreciative of this expense in their behalf to return a small portion, not to the University itself, but to the future student body, that they may be more comfortable and happy in their work. Each person finishing a four year course and graduating has received from the adult population of the state a present of $1200.00 in expense toward the cost of his education. This means $180.00 for a graduating class of 150. It means nearly a half million dollars for the student body this academic year.

It seems reasonable to suppose there is a goodly number among the present student body, another large number who have passed out as graduates or who did not graduate, who will be willing to do so, if a plan can be proposed that will make this possible. The student body at the University will continue for a long period of time. Universities never die. Education will never be given up. The number of students will increase. The support will increase. Interest in education and in the institution will grow with the years. Do the students now attending the University feel that they have an interest in the welfare of the great army of young people of the future? This can be determined by the test which is here proposed.

The receipts from the increased student fee as proposed, which received 482 votes out of 716, would net about $4000 a year for the building. At 6 per cent this will pay interest on about $67,000. The available funds now on hand, according to the auditor, amount to about $35,000. Profits from the store, the addition to the reserve fund each year, and the other funds that may be assembled, would not reduce the principal very rapidly, and interest cost would be heavy. However, it is possible to construct a student building by that method.

But a speedier plan is desirable. I refer to gifts for the particular purpose. If students have been blessed by attendance at the University, have seen more in life by so doing, have been helped in living and making a living, they should be willing to give a definite amount each year for a definite number of years, as they may desire and may be able. Without appealing to emotions, we may appeal to the sense of justice and fair play, and to the interest in the coming race of students.

Here, then, is the proposal. Make a plan whereby contributions from students are solicited. Let the contribution per year run over a number of years, as the student may wish. The present body of students can contribute $50,000 to $75,000, and return to the future student body for a building about one-tenth of what is being spent on their education for this year only. Nearly 500 voted to pay an additional $7.50 per year, for several purposes. Perhaps they will be willing to voluntarily pay it for a building.

The student body should be tested first. If they are unwilling to contribute themselves, others should not be asked to do it for them, or at their request.

If the response of the student body is satisfactory, the students of the city and others who have not graduated may be approached. Then should come the alumni. Last of all the friends of the University who have never been students should be solicited. The reason for the order recommended is quite clear. The students should make the start. The alumni have been pressed for the development of the athletic field, and should finish it. But many will want to help construct a students' building.

Immediately steps should be taken to select the place on the campus where the building will be located, and have the site approved by the president and faculty, and by the state board of education. An agreement should be reached between the students and University authorities as to the maintenance of the building, and the payment of light, water, janitor service, repairs, etc. This may as well be settled before construction as afterwards.

The question of control and authority in the building may be settled, as soon as construction seems feasible.

As soon as possible a tentative plan for a building should be made. This will necessitate an agreement on what shall go into the first unit of the structure. The tentative plan which was to have the students contribute by voting a raise in quarterly fees of $1. These sources of finances had been carefully checked over by the financial heads of the business office and we were assured that, with such finances available, we were working with a very sound and a very stable plan, and that a Student Union Building could be erected in the near future depending on the amount of money to be put in the building. The greater the cost, the longer the time it would take for a fund to accumulate for construction purposes. Inasmuch as the State Board of Education, which must approve a raise in fees, was to meet within a short time, and as the quarter was nearing a close we had to rush the proposition. We had a great time explaining over and over again the various sources of finances and how important it was to this raise in fees.

The strange and almost comical thing about it was that the small, but strongly protesting minority granted and admitted the advantages of such a building—that it would constitute a great student center, that it would point to an increase of prestige for their alma mater—but they could not see, and apparently would not see, our plan of finance. This is a little of the fact that the financial heads of the University, who certainly are well acquainted with the best of financial policies, had approved financial possibilities.

Yet our "sideline coaches" maintained that we were all wrong, that it wasn't possible to carry out such a scheme, that they would be "hoodwinked" out of this extra dollar, that we should do this and do that. They seized on one or two small details that could obviously be ironed out without looking to the whole of the proposition and based some firmly presented argument on their unfair argument to others.

But, you see, the idea of it all is to have a FUND started that is expressly for a Student Union Building, and when we have funds on hand sufficient enough actual construction will begin. And what is sufficient enough will be dependent on the student body at the time when construction is desired. It will be up to them to set the cost of the building. By starting this fund our present student body is assured that there will be such a building. As for the plan of finance we have our careful business office and the State Board of Education to watch each step of the student body.

The view I have of it all then, is that students who are continually talking and harping on the manner of financing are taking a very short-sided view. They are muddling and stewing over something that the student body, with the backing and advice of the State University of Montana and the State Board of Education, can't go wrong on. The idea is to create a FUND. The only argument against it is a possible feeling on the part of students that a raise in fees is too hard on the pocket book—and that is a very just one—other arguments come within the scope of a sideline coach. In fact, the total raise amounts to but $12 during a four-year course.

The proposition is to come again to a vote of the students. The parties in office at present are having similar difficulties in putting the general idea across. They have at their command the same sources of finance with one exception, incorporation of the student body which would enable them to float bonds which is not at all a necessary element in the plan.

But the very heart of it still remains—to create a FUND. That will assure our student body of the meritable and beneficial undertaking of a Student Union Building. Thru some misunderstanding last year, we did not find out until too late that our local administrative board required a majority of the students enrolled in school to cast a favorable ballot and due to the inconvenience of the time of election, which was during winter quarter examinations, only 700 plus students voted. At that time approximately 450 students voted for and 220 against.

This year, with the balloting coming at a much more favorable time, it well behooves some 700 students to get out and cast a YES vote for the proposition of raising the fees $1 to create a fund for a Student Building.

PIERS PAINTINGS TO BE EXHIBITED

J. M. Brown Makes Displaying Possible at Donohues.

Through the courtesy of Mr. James M. Brown, manager of Donohue's Dry Goods store, the Anton Piers paintings, "Moods of the Rockies," which have been on exhibition at the University are to be displayed at the downtown store for the remainder of the week.

The paintings will be displayed on the second floor, and are open to the general public. "We felt that a good many people who would not otherwise have the chance to view these pictures would be glad to take advantage of a downtown showing, and although it naturally inconveniences us in conducting business, we are glad to do this public service," Mr. Brown said.

Saturday afternoon at two o'clock Professor Clifford H. Riedell, of the University Art department will be at the exhibit to talk on the paintings and explain their histories, as well as tell interesting anecdotes in connection with them.

Mr. Piers is a Great Falls artist who specializes in western scenes.

GRIZZLY BATTALION HOLDS ANNUAL TOURNAMENT AND FINAL REVIEW ON MAY 29

Major Gonser to Inspect Corps Beginning May 20. Gen. Hines, San Francisco to Visit Department.

For the remainder of the spring quarter military tournaments, inspections, and parades will keep the R. O. T. C. department of the University active.

The activities will begin with an inspection of the Grizzly battalion on May 9 by Colonel E. C. Waddill, corps-area R. O. T. C. officer. The interscholastic track meet will be opened with a parade of the entire Grizzly battalion May 10.

Major G. J. Gonser of Fort Missoula has been designated by the corps-area commander to also inspect the Grizzly battalion. On May 20, 21, and any other days which he may pick when regular classes are held, Major Gonser will inspect one section of each class by observing its conduct for a 45 minute period. In addition to this he will devote 45 minutes in quizzing the members of each class to ascertain their knowledge of the subject taught.

Visit May 28.

On May 28 the corps-area commander, General John L. Hines, from the presidio of San Francisco will visit the R. O. T. C. department. It is not yet known whether or not he will review the battalion.

The Grizzly battalion on May 29 will hold its annual military tournament and final review, in which the outstanding company commander of the year will be made honorary major to receive the review. The tournament will consist of competitive drill between companies; between platoons, one from each company; between squads, one from each company; and a manual of arms spell-down open to anyone in the battalion.

The review for Colonel Waddill and the parade for track meet will take the place of the regular drill period scheduled for June 3 so that May 27 will be the last appearance of the R. O. T. C. battalion unless General Hines requests that it turn out during his visit here.

Oral History Exams Will Be Next Week

Senior History Majors to Be Questioned by Faculty.

Professor Paul C. Phillips has announced that the oral examinations for seniors that are majoring in history will be held next week. The students are brought, one at a time, before the entire teaching force of that department and are questioned.

There will be a makeup examination held the following week for those who are unable to take the first and for those who receive unsatisfactory grades.

Eventually—why not now?

GRIZZLY BAND

Deserves Write-Up, Says Stepanstsoff.

"Sure, I'm for publicity—when ever I can get it," says Victor Stepanstsoff, assistant to Roy Freeburg, leader of the State University band. "Besides, as one of the hardest working, if not the hardest working gang,"—right here we break off to leave room for dispute of this claim—"on the campus during Aber day, we deserve a write-up."

It now becomes necessary to shout in order to be heard above the howls of, "How about the road-breaking gang, heaving boulders and driving tractors for hours beneath a blistering (question mark) sun," and in lighter, shriller feminine voices, "And how about the dusty, long hours spent among the (qualifying adjective here omitted) books of the library or the back-breaking, shoulder-aching hours of raking beneath a blistering (again insert the shouting) we say, "True brother, true sister co-workers, but they set a record, all right—if not the record."

"Hail, Hail!"

When the band played "Hail, Hail the Gang's all Here" at the entrance to the campus grounds opening the Aber Day ceremonies, and WORK ("work" all caps for definite and good reasons), although the implication may not have been strictly true, and judging from the number of co-eds we saw adorning the campus with brilliantly painted faces, and the tired arms and broken paddles of the police, it wasn't strictly true, it was entirely applicable to members of the band. For the first time in the past six years every member of the University band was present on time, by 7:55 a. m. to be exact, according to the clock on Main hall. But for the half hour from 9:30 to 10 o'clock allowed for voting, the 45 minutes given for lunch and the hour's rest from 3 to 4 o'clock, members of the band were on the job from the time of their arrival—7:55 a. m.—to the moment of their dismissal at the close of High Court shortly before 6 p. m. Long, strenuous hours of service, though perhaps not particularly eventful ones marked the day of the members with the exception of Vernon Hoven, the trombone player, who spent a frantic fifteen minutes running wildly around the campus searching for his lost mouthpiece only to finally discover it quietly residing within his own pocket. Certainly members of the University band met fully and well two conformations of "Daddy" Aber's day, the first rule of presence on the campus by the hour of eight, and the second of loyal, willing—or so it was reported—service.

Mountaineers Climb Jumbo

Eight members of the Mountaineers club and seven guests made the moonlight trip up Mount Jumbo last evening.

According to Professor E. M. Little, president of the club, the view was wonderful. Starting at sunset, the hikers climbed the southwest slope and the moon rose just as they neared the top. The city lay clearly before them, and the mountains stood out darkly like silhouettes. The climb was made in record time, only one and a quarter hours being consumed in going from the shelf at the bottom to the summit.

Going down the north ridge was the most beautiful part of the hike with the moon shining through the wooded section, Mr. Little said.

Those who made the trip were Mina Ellingsen, Hazel Swearingen, Harriet Linn, Ann Dudlack, Elythe Hall, Jane Bateman and Mr. and Mrs. Little, members; Mamie Nicolet, Gladys Schindl, Merlin Halterman, Hiram Marcy, Robert Holgren, George Ellingson and Fred Roush guests.

Tomorrow evening, the Mountaineers will hold their monthly dinner at the Y. W. C. A. Dinner will be served cafeteria style, so no reservations need be made. Professor Charles Dels will talk on mountain formations. A picnic will be held Sunday afternoon, up the Rattlesnake. Vera Brunner is in charge.

MONTANA GOLF TEAM TO GO TO INTERCOLLEGIATE GOLF MEET IN SEATTLE

First Step Toward Competition in Minor Sports; Entries Must Be in by Noon, April 29.

Winner and runner-up of the University golf championship tournament which begins April 30 will be sent to Seattle to represent Montana in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate golf tournament May 16 and 17, providing that they are eligible to represent the University in intercollegiate athletics.

This is the first step toward competition in minor sports which the University of Montana has taken. Golf, together with swimming, wrestling, tennis, boxing, and rifle, was voted as a minor sport by the athletic board last fall. In its meeting held Tuesday afternoon Central Board, student governing body, decided to finance the sending of a golf team, consisting of two men, to the Intercollegiate tournament.

Entries for the University tournament must be made in their names to Harry Adams, director of intramural athletics, before noon Monday, April 29. All men in school are eligible to compete for the school championship. The qualifying round will consist of 72 holes, medal play, the low eight men going into the semi-finals. The championship will be decided in 72 holes, medal play. The winner, in addition to being sent to Seattle if he is eligible will receive the Intra-mural gold medal.

Following Are the Rules of Play. Matches must be played on Garden City course. All scores turned in must be signed by at least two contestants. Scores made while playing with persons not in the tournament will not be accepted. Balls may be "set up" on grass on the fairways but may not be touched in the rough without the penalty of one stroke.

Over the fence on No. 3 fairway and the ditch north of No. 4 green are out of bounds. See rules on back of Garden City course score card for penalties.

Pacific Coast Meet. The Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Golf tournament will be held May 16 and 17 over the course of the Seattle Golf club. The play will be the same as in the past, 36 holes each day or a total of 72 holes for the tournament. The low aggregate score will determine the individual championship and the combined scores of the two representatives of each school will make the team's aggregate. The Seattle Golf club course is one of the finest in the Northwest. It was here that the 1927 Western Amateur tournament was held. Minor sports "M" sweaters may be awarded to the Montana team if it places in this tournament.

J. Prendergast New Bear Paw

Plans Nearing Completion For Track Week.

James Prendergast of Butte was tapped Bear Paw Wednesday night at the Aber Day mixer by Bob Henlon, Chief Grizzly.

Due to the fact that two members did not return to school the spring quarter two vacancies were made in the Bear Paw ranks. One of these vacancies was filled when Jerry Ryan, who was absent during the winter quarter, returned. Prendergast was chosen to fill the second place.

The Bear Paws are now rounding out their plans for Intercollegiate track meet. They will meet all trains bringing contestants to the University and provide transportation for them to their lodging places.

Scoop Luke, transportation manager, has canvassed the campus and has obtained approximately 30 cars. He will also obtain the use of several business men's cars.

Acceptance of a $55,000 gift, the largest private endowment ever tendered the University of Idaho, was announced from the office of President Frederick J. Kelly recently. The gift came from Salmon O. Levinson, prominent Chicago attorney, with the provision that the money be used to establish the William Edgar Borah Outlawry of War Foundation. Mr. Levinson is the organizer and present chairman of the American committee on the Outlawry of War.

SENIORS TO PLAY JUNIORS FOR BASEBALL TITLE

Sophomores Placed Third by Downing Freshmen in Game Yesterday.

Inter-class baseball championship will be played off Saturday morning between the seniors and juniors, each team having won over the frosh and sophomore nines. The juniors slugged their way to the finals by gaining a 12 to 4 triumph over the yearlings Tuesday afternoon. The second year men pushed themselves into third place by taking a 6 to 1 decision from the freshmen yesterday.

From comparative scores the top classmen have a slight edge on their fellow upper classmen. They won from the frosh 14 to 4 and from the sophs 7 to 2 while the juniors took the count of these two clubs 12 to 4 and 13 to 10 respectively, coming from behind in the last frame to defeat the second-year men.

The senior outfit is composed mostly of former varsity squad members such as Rognien, Morrow, Beck, Wohl, Stewart and Dragstedt, the latter three forming the battery for the upperclassmen. The junior nine is strengthened by Rankin, Golob, Powell and Higham, former Grizzly ball tossers.

Schoonover, tossing for the sophs against the frosh yesterday afternoon, had a good day, striking out seven men and allowing only two hits in the six inning fracas which decided the third place position. Frank Flannigan, pitching for the Frosh, had four strike-outs to his credit but was troubled for nine hits.

The inter-company baseball tournament will start next Tuesday when Company A meets Company B at 4 o'clock.

Gridmen Look Good Against Fort Missoula

Coach Milburn's Men Prove Too Much for Soldiers In First Scrimmage.

With two strong football teams anxious for the first outside competition during the spring practice, the Grizzlies proved too much for the Fort Missoula gridmen in a practice scrimmage held on Dornblaser field Tuesday afternoon.

Cox booted the oval to midfield from behind the line of scrimmage to open the fray. The soldiers were not sure of themselves and a fumble gave the ball to Milburn's men. Carpenter, Ekegren, and Cox contributed in making big gains through the army men's defense. A lateral pass and a twenty yard run by Carpenter brought the first touchdown of the scrimmage session. The University came back with a criss-cross to net a big gain.

Fort Intercepts Pass. Burns, playing one of the half-back positions for the Grizzlies, found his way through the soldiers' line for twelve yards. The Fort seemed helpless under the attack of their younger opponents. Major Milburn soon sent in another team to relieve the starters of the game.

A pass whipped by Dvorak was intercepted by Burton, Fort guard, who raced 48 yards before he was brought down by Dvorak. The army men failed to gain the needed yardage and an attempted pass was snatched by Dailey, who dodged through army tacklers for a 65 yard run.

After a few gains by Mellinger and Boone, Dailey twisted his way for another touchdown for the University.
